

Texture...

I chose the elements of texture and figure/ground because they both highlight important features that we interact with everyday. With texture, you are not only able to see it, but you can also feel it. And with scale, you are able to determine the appropriate size or difference of objects by just viewing the said object next another object that may be bigger or smaller.

Scale...

